Executive Director and Co-founder

shareQ is built on two pillars:

- We believe in the people we support, empowering persons with disabilities and financial challenges to live with dignity rather than simply providing aid.
- We use innovation to scale impact across disability inclusion, education, advocacy, and livelihoods.

Economic Empowerment for Persons with Disabilities

Supported by IRC & World Bank

Through the Economic Empowerment for Persons with Disabilities project, shareQ strengthened the skills, confidence, and economic independence of 42 persons with disabilities in Beirut and Mount Lebanon. The project supported participants through two tracks:

Employment:

Market-based training for the food industry, career guidance, and apprenticeships to help persons with disabilities access job opportunities.

Entrepreneurship:

In-depth technical support and grants support for entrepreneurs with disabilities; helping them further develop their startups.

TESTIMONIAL

I really liked the training. The team cared about us and helped us a lot. The trainer made us think from a different perspective. I now have new ideas and feel more confident about my business. I also began to work toward my goals and learned how to reach the right audience for my business.

BlackLight, Dine in the Dark is an experiential advocacy initiative inspired by shareQ NGO that promotes and advocates for disability inclusion through immersive dining experiences. BlackLight opened its first branch in partnership with shareQ NGO.

Black Light allows participants to experience dining from the perspective of a person with a visual impairment, creating a powerful space for awareness, empathy, and dialogue.

The story was inspired by a blind chef, Salma Raffoul and the menu and concept were designed and implemented in an inclusive manner, combining both people with and without disabilities.

With its website now live, BlackLight can now host private dinners for companies and paid dinners for clients.

TESTIMONIAL

I joined a unique and inclusive dinner by ProAbled with inspiring guests from Lebanon's entrepreneurship ecosystem. I witnessed inclusion in action through a warm, professional team and exceptional catering by a talented blind chef. This experience highlighted the power of our senses and the importance of enabling ecosystems for people with special needs. Grateful to ProAbled for this impactful experience, and I look forward to supporting their mission.

Thank you for this incredible experience; one that was deeply moving and beyond words. It touched my heart in ways I can't fully express.
I'd love to explore how we can build on this, from raising awareness to engaging faculty and staff, and even integrating it into classes.
